IMP. WIZARD MALONEY SENT UP FOR TRIAL

Charges of Conspiracy to Steal Legal Documents Bring Trouble to Head of K. K. K. and Three Co-Workers.

Edmonton, December 17th.—John James Maloney, Imperial Wizard of the Ku Klux Klan was remanded on bail of $4,000 to stand trial in Supreme Court on charges of conspiring to steal, when he emerged from the sanctuary of a city hospital, Friday morning to face preliminary hearing in police court before Magistrate Col. P. C. H. Primrose. The Baron Von Wittgenstein, chief of the Maloney "investigators" was remanded on the charge, bail being set by the court in his case at $3,000.

The Maloney-K.K.K. conspiracy case will reach supreme court in trial with four alleged conspirators facing trial. Murdoch McKenzie and Harry K. Bassett, both Klansmen were committed for trial last Friday and jailed for contempt of court when they refused to testify against each other or against the Baron Von Wittgenstein. Defence attorneys seeking writs of habeas corpus went before Mr. Justice Ford in the Supreme Court Thursday where Bassett and McKenzie were decreed competent witnesses. Facing another term of eight days for contempt of court, both witnesses testified against Von Wittgenstein who in the previous hearings had turned King's evidence. Maloney came to court Friday surrounded by Klan followers who jammed the hall to overflowing. When his case was called he moved to the desk where his attorneys sat but Court Orderly John Irvine of the traffic squad ordered him into the prisoners' dock.

Evidence heard previously was admitted to court records by Magistrate P. C. H. Primrose at the request of both crown and defence. Von Wittgenstein's statement was that at the orders of Maloney he in company with Harry Bassett had gone to the McLeod block the night of July 5 last where they were handed documents by Murdoch McKenzie, assistant janitor there. These documents relating to court actions taken by the Rev. Duncan McDougall and C. M. Marston against Maloney were taken from the law office of Grant and Stewart in the McLeod block, evidence revealed.

Von Wittgenstein testified that the coup had been engineered and directed by Maloney and this was borne out in statements made to police by both Bassett and McKenzie.

Evidence heard Friday revealed that Maloney's organization had reached its tentacles even into Grant and Stewart's office.

McKenzie taking the witness stand, launched into his testimony without a pause and told of the developments the night of July 5.

"I hid left a message in the Klan office in the Imperial bank building for Bassett to see me," he said. "He came with the Baron Von Wittgenstein to the McLeod building about 8:30 and I showed them into an empty office and told them to wait."

"I went and took some papers from my overalls in the next room and came back to the other men. The Baron snatched them from my hand and said, 'up to my office now'."

"Did you get back the papers?" asked prosecutor Charles Becker.

"Yes I picked them up from under a blotter in the Baron's office after they had gone."

"Was it pre-arranged?"

"Yes."

"Have you those letters now?"

"No, But I can get them."

"Do you remember who wrote them?"

"Yes."

"Where did they come from?"

"Grant and Stewart's office."

"How did you get them?"

"They were left for me."

"Who by?"

"The person who always wrote them."

"Who is that person?"

"I am not telling."

"You have to tell."

"The two stenographers in Grant and Stewart's office."

"What are their names?"

"At this juncture Fred Jackson, one of the defence lawyers, objected and asked that McKenzie be allowed to write the names on paper. The names were not revealed.

"Did you get any documents?"

"No. Just notes written by those girls for my information."

"What did they contain?"

"Personal and indecent stuff written about stenographers and men in the offices."

"What was your interest in such stuff?"

"I wanted it for the reformation of morals by my organization."

"Where were these letters left for you?"

"Under the stenographers' baskets on the desks in Grant and Stewart's offices."

"Did you take them out of the files?"

"No."

"Did you ever tamper with the files?"

"Yes. When I was dusting."

"Were you discharged from your janitor job?"

"Yes."

"Why?"

"I don't know."

"Were there any documents ever handed to you?"

"Then you say Baron is either lying or is not guilty."

"What was this basket arrangement known as?"

"It was the 'secret channel'."

Short cross examination by defence followed and then Bassett underwent examination at the hands of the prosecutor.

"McKenzie came to me in the Memorial Hall one night," he testified. "and told me to come to the McLeod building. I went the following night. On floor five he showed me some yellow papers but they were of a nature that I did not consider important. They involved people of little importance. Some time later I went to Klan office; was told by Maloney that McKenzie wanted to see me. The Baron and I went over and met McKenzie who wanted to see me. To the darkened vacant office McKenzie returned with a bundle of papers and we went to the Baron's office on floor nine. The Baron made copies of these papers and we went over to the Klan office."

"Did you ask why you were sent for the papers?"

"No."

"Did you see what was in them?"

"No."

Bassett became evasive as Prosecutor Becker pressed him for further details, and the remaining crown examination was answered with "I don't remember. I wouldn't like to say. It's too far back and I want to be fair."

"Is there anything about this case that you do remember clearly?" questioned the prosecution.

"No. You see, I want to be perfectly fair."

"I understand the delicacy of your feelings," said the Prosecutor smoothly and the court burst into laughter.

Farmer Steele, organizer of the Alberta K.K.K., Malcolm Stewart and Ben Littlewood were equally as evasive and forgetful. They answered "no" right on down the line of the crown examination.

Maloney's stenographer told the court that she could remember nothing of the night of July 5.

"Do you remember taking dictation from this Baron Wittgenstein on these documents in question?"

"No."

"You are a relation of Maloney?"

"Yes, distant."

Bassett and McKenzie were recalled to the stand and re-examined. They refuted parts of their statements made to police.

None of the accused had anything to say.

What Would Help Farmers
THE FARMER WOULD PROSPER AT ONCE WITH 50 PER CENT. FREIGHT REDUCTION
—Newark, N.J., "Times"

So much has been said and written these last few years regarding the plight of farmers, and so many prescriptions have been given for putting things on their feet, that we hesitate to even broach the subject. It seems to us, however, that all we have heard and read has been aimed at controlling the farmer's production—loaning him more money with which he can pay something on his past debts and run further into debt—or supplying him with a well-run business, or to instruct him on his department.

The writer is not a presidential candidate, so he may be excused if he suggests that the farmer doesn't want more loans—more debts—or a farm loan. What he wants is a free market and a much lower cost of doing business—give him these two things and Mr. Farmer will take care of himself—come out of the terrible slump he is in, and make a place for himself without further interference.

In other words, the farmer does not enjoy a free market for his wares—he cannot reach the market where his products are being sold today at good prices, and must accept, therefore, whatever is offered him locally, where demand is very limited.

For instance, here in Newark we are today paying 50c. a dozen for fresh eggs, yet we know that eggs in the farming districts have been selling at varying prices from 5 cents to 10c. a dozen.

In one farming section we heard from recently farmers were getting only 8 cents a bushel for husked corn, including delivery by truck to the local buyer—we are paying here in Newark 73 cents a bushel.

The trouble is that freight rates, which, by the way, are often found to have been doubled since the war, are so exorbitant that they shut the farmer out of his markets completely.

As we have stated in many editorials dealing with present-day economics, we can have no return to prosperity until there is free interchange of merchandise, and this applies just as much to the products of the farm and all other products taken out of the ground as it does to manufactured goods.

Give the farmer a 50 per cent. reduction in freight rates and he would begin to prosper at once.

And here again, this is just another example of the strange-folled organized labor and protected government labor have on the rest of the country, for rail rates could easily be cut in half if our big politicians and the guts to force a proper and efficient cut in rail wages and reduce rail taxes by reducing the wages of grossly overpaid government employees, and effecting other recognitions of economic.

The farmer's fixed charges are eating him out of house and home—his taxes are completely out of line, and the same is true of interest he is asked to pay.

Give the farmer a substantial reduction in the taxes which have been wished on him by unscrupulous politicians, and lower interest rates to a point where they should be, and the farmer's cost of doing business would at once be in line and give him a chance to produce at a profit.

Thus we may be permitted to suggest that what the farmer needs today are lower freight rates—lower taxes—lower interest rates—give him these three things and he will prosper. One thing—none of the makeshift devices proposed, such as the allotment plan, debenture or the equalization plan, will have any other effect than to run him into debt—certainly he wants no more credit to buy

J. L. WALTERS GUEST OF HONOR AT BANQUET

Mr. J. L. Walters, of Clive was the guest of honor at a banquet given in the Adelphi Hotel, on Thursday, December 16th, by members of the Alberta Shorthorn Breeders' Association and friends. The banquet was given in appreciation of the honor that Mr. Walters brought to Alberta by his wonderful showing at the Toronto Royal Winter Fair.

Mr. W. W. Sharpe, of Stettler, was chairman of the gathering, and was a most capable one. As President of the Alberta Shorthorn Breeders' Association, Mr. Sharpe expressed himself as greatly honored to be able to be present to congratulate Mr. Walters. Words of welcome and congratulatory were then spoken by Mr. Walters, Mayor Edwin H. Jones, and Geo. E. DeLong, President Lacombe and District Board of Trade, who were loud in their praise for Mr. Walters. Other speakers of the evening were H. A. Gray, Deputy Minister of Agriculture; J. W. Dugan, of Calgary; Fieldman of the Dominion Shorthorn Breeders; W. L. Carlyle, Manager Prince of Wales Ranch; Dean E. A. Howes, University of Alberta; Prof. J. P. Sakville, University of Alberta.

Following speeches of the evening, Mr. Wm. Sharpe, presented Mr. Walters with a lovely travelling bag as a small token of appreciation from the Alberta Shorthorn Breeders and friends present. Mr. Henry Trane then read a number of programs of congratulatory received that night following which Mr. Sharpe, the chairman, introduced many out of town guests. Mr. A. T. Inskip, extended his hearty congratulations to Mr. Walters. During the evening, Miss on its wide range of electrical household appliances, by merchandising through dealers who supported General Electric lines of appliances exclusively.

At this time, Morrison and Johnston, Ltd., stated the opportunity of securing this important connection for this district. In an interview today, Morrison and Johnston, Ltd., stated that they were happy to announce that the relationship of their Company with the General Electric has been a very satisfactory one. "Our main endeavor is to bring to the people of Lacombe the very best value that is obtainable in electrical merchandise."

When one realizes the tremendous resources behind General Electric, one can soon see that the name is a guarantee of the product. Before any product of General Electric is released upon the market, it is subjected to tests that eclipse any normal use or abuse it might receive in the field, in the amazing laboratories of the Company. In this manner the public are fully protected against expensive experiments. Take for instance, the now famous G.E. refrigerator with its exclusive Motor Top—this machine was experimented upon for sixteen (16) years before released. This cost the General Electric over 20 million dollars. Now after a brief period of five years, over 2,000,000 refrigerators have been installed in users' homes and one out of every three domestic refrigerators in use on this continent is General Electric.

This week Morrison and Johnston, Ltd. are showing a full line of G.E. home appliances particularly suited to the Christmas season and some exceptional values are being offered.

Over one hundred guests were in attendance, many of them from distant points in the province. The menu was well arranged and reflected great credit on the Adelphi Hotel.

Mr. DeLong, President of the Lacombe and District Board of Trade, paid the following tribute to Mr. Walters:

"It is too frequently the case that those who do something really worth while seldom or never receive recognition in life. Too often they remain unrecognized and neglected. For that reason, it is most appropriate that the Alberta Shorthorn Breeders' Association should honour one of its members."

"We are tonight honoring a gentleman who has made his mark in breeding Shorthorns and in so doing has brought honor to himself, his family and his district in the showing of him, we feel that we ourselves are being honored."

"Jim Walters will always be remembered as one who started as a young man with a small herd of average Shorthorns, and by the use of good but not always expensive sires, and by using good sound judgment and business ability, has built up a herd which in numbers and quality is second to none in Canada, producing individuals that have captured premier honors in the world's greatest exhibitions in competition with the best animals which the wealth of multimillionaires could buy."

"Jim Walters has set an example which all may follow. The herd he has established indicates that the race is won by thoughtful care and industry, rather than speed. The development of this great herd has at no time sensational. There was no instance of any attempt at grandstanding to attract the public eye. His accomplishments are the result of years of untiring work, of science den him and push him under. It should always be kept in mind that farmers are just like any other red-blooded men—all they want is a fair and reasonable chance to compete on even terms with the rest of the world, and they can and will take care of themselves."

CATHOLIC SCHOOLS CLOSED
Archbishop Sinnott's announcement through his letter to Mayor Webb, which appears in the Free Press, that a mass action was being taken by the Catholic community to close the schools on Friday, December 17th, has been received with a full appreciation of its importance.

Assar having financed their own school for 40 years, and made the sacrifices which that entailed, it can be readily understood that only very exceptional circumstances could have led the Catholic community to come to such a decision. The schools were maintained to support a principle which Catholics value very highly, and as no money was segregated from the public funds for their schools, the added burden of financing their own system of education has been borne by the Catholics of Manitoba as his guest points out, for more than 40 years. That this decision was only made after anxious and deep consideration of all the circumstances it involves may be taken for granted.

Transfer of some 2000 new pupils to the care of the Winnipeg school board will open up some fresh organizational details for the board, as it will be naturally assumed that the board will provide the teaching facilities required for this obligation of now providing primary education for all Winnipeg children will widen the school board's responsibilities. The Catholic children will now be absorbed into our public school system, with the result that education in one year's time will be firmly established on a purely unitary basis in Winnipeg so far as sectarian interests are concerned. Difficult as Archbishop Sinnott's may have found it to give his assent to the closing of the schools, how much more difficult will it be, five or ten years hence, with all the change and evolution in public education which will have taken place in that period, to have the schools reopened, should this be attempted.

The question which may be left for the future to answer in the right way. The immediate point of interest is in close of schools which have weathered the storms for four decades and are now going down in a depression which recognizes no differences in human beliefs, but is bearing with equal weight on all alike. Archbishop Sinnott's announcement indicates its extension into a sphere whose importance does not need to be stressed.

Now--All Together.

Municipal and school board elections are over for another year throughout Canada's western provinces. Reports indicate that, generally speaking, the elections this year were conducted with a vigor surpassing that which usually characterizes such contests. This, no doubt, is but another result of the difficult and critical times through which the world is passing, the inevitable outcome of which is discontent, dissatisfaction with whatever is done, no matter what its nature may be, or who may be responsible for the doing of it. Another factor accounting for the keenness of many contests was the entry of a political party in Provincial and Federal affairs into the realm of municipal affairs, thus introducing a new element, and in some cases a new bitterness, into municipal and school board elections.

It is no doubt true that at no time can men and women, clothed with responsibility by their fellow citizens to direct public policies and manage public affairs, please all classes. No matter what they may do, or may leave undone, certain people will be dissatisfied. This, however, is especially true at a time like the present when all governing bodies are confronted with the two-fold task of exercising the strictest economy on the one hand, and of being faced with the necessity of making extraordinary expenditures on the other hand. Both these things must be done—the first because of falling revenues resulting from the inability of many people to pay taxes, and the second because prevailing conditions make it obligatory to provide work or relief for countless numbers of people. The result is a demand for more and more so-called "free" services on the part of governments, for people who have not the means to obtain these services for themselves, at a time when governments cannot possibly get the money to pay for the aforesaid "free" services.

Dissatisfaction and discontent, ending in unreasonableness on the part of many, is the inevitable result. Those things which many people are demanding, if granted, mean the imposition of still heavier burdens on others who are making a valiant struggle to keep their own heads above water and not become charges on the community. Those whom the citizenship made responsible for administration of public policies and affairs thus found themselves between two fires, and, with their hands tied financially, making it impossible for them to do many of the things they undoubtedly would have been glad to do were it only possible.

Some experienced and conscientious public servants have, as a result of this general dissatisfaction, been defeated, their places on public bodies being taken by others, some of whom, again, have captured the popular fancy and support as a result of more or less sweeping promises which they will soon discover they, too, with all the best intention in the world, will be unable to fulfill.

Services on municipal councils, school boards, and other public bodies is, at best and under the most favorable circumstances, a more or less thankless task, while under present prevailing adverse conditions it is even more so; inviting, as it does, little but abuse, misrepresentation of motives and acts, and loss of whatever popularity a person may have possessed. Such service also involves no small sacrifice on the part of the person accepting public office. In these days it requires every moment of one's time and energies to keep their own personal business matters in solvent shape, neglect of them means disaster.

But service on public bodies is a public duty. It is a duty that must be discharged by some one, and those who are willing to make the sacrifice are deserving of the thanks and cordial goodwill of their fellow citizens, regardless of the fact that their every act may not meet with approval.

Therefore, now that the smoke of our municipal and school board battles has floated away, now that the decisions of the majority have been rendered, it behooves all citizens of good will, and loyal to the democratic institutions of this country, to get behind their representatives whoever they may be, and, irrespective of the fact whether they were their personal choice or not, give them a helping hand. Let carping criticism now cease. Let all personalities be forgotten. Rather, let one and all stand unitedly in support of their elected representatives and work harmoniously together with one single purpose of doing the best for the community under existing circumstances, helping each other, and thereby helping all.

And in so doing greater consideration may well be given to this important fact which too many people are rather inclined in these troublous days to forget, namely, that more can be learned from the experiences of the past than from all the text books of theories or the idealistic visions of inexperienced and untired visionaries. What is good in the past we should retain, while that which, through experience, we have learned to be weak and faulty should be remedied or disregarded, being substituted by what that same experience has shown to be needed, rather than to invoke some purely theoretical idea which, when put to the test of practical operation, is more likely than not to land us in a deeper morass than the one from which we are striving to extricate ourselves.

Charge For Grain Storage Has Now Been Reduced

The rate of charge for grain storage, elevator and other services at country and terminal elevators, has been fixed by the government at one-fifth of a cent per bushel per day, a decrease from the rate of one-thirtieth of a cent at present in force. The change is made by virtue of the recent amendment to the Canada Grain Act, which places the power to take such action in the hands of the Board of Grain Commissioners. The amendment passed the House during the recently adjourned session, after a brief debate. It was sponsored by Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce.

Woman Is Honored By French Legion

Old Tradition Has Been Shattered For Second Time

An old tradition which dates back to Napoleon and which kept French women from rising in grade in the Legion of Honor has been shattered by the award of the rank of Commander of the Legion to a woman, for the second time in history.

Mme. Philippe de Villemorin, millionaire business woman and one of the world's greatest dealers in seeds and grains, has been promoted from Officer to Commander, joining in that rank Comtesse de Noailles, poetess, the only other woman Commander in the Legion's history.

The promotion came in the distribution of 600 ribbons and rosettes of the Legion of Honor to reward services rendered towards the success of the Colonial Exposition, Madame de Villemorin had created the floral decoration of the exposition grounds.

Widowed during the war, Mme. de Villemorin left the front, where she had won citations as a war nurse, and took charge of the 200-year-old grain farm.

She travelled through Africa, India, China, Java, Egypt, Australia, and the Orient, to select and improve the seeds of tobacco, rice, coffee, peanuts, and other colonial crops. She operates agronomic laboratories and largely was responsible for saving the French wheat industry from ruinous Dutch and Italian competition.

Ocean Air Service Planned

Aviation Company Contemplates Use Of All Trade Routes

Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, with officials of the Pan-American Airways, have unfolded plans for development of trans-oceanic aviation by which they hope to dominate intercontinental air transportation.

Within two years this airplane company plans to set out upon oceanic schedules a fleet of four-motored, all metal, monoplane "clipper ships."

"As we use the 'clipper ships' of sailing days, these air-liners, built for efficiency rather than size, will be sent into the trade routes to gain passengers and pay load traffic."

Their design contemplates use of all the present ocean routes: American to Europe via Newfoundland-to-Ireland and Bermuda-to-Azores; and across the Pacific with a stop in Hawaii.

The announcement that contracts for two types of these ships have been awarded was made by T. Trippe, president of Pan-Am Airlines. Sitting on top of an office table near Trippe, Col. Lindbergh amplified the announcement with a discussion on the design of the airplanes.

The ships will be built to cover a distance up to 2,400 miles at one stop—being the longest jump in the trans-Pacific travel.

They will be of the "flying boat" type, smaller in size than the German D-XX, but larger than any fleet of ships now in commercial schedules. The Pan-American refused to disclose technical details of engineering.

An excellent protection against worms can be got in Miller's Worm Powders. They render the stomach and intestines unattractive to them. They heal the surfaces that have become inflamed by the attacks of the parasites and serve to restore the strength of the child that has been undermined by the draughts that the worms have made upon it, and their operation is altogether health-giving.

Reproduction Of Old Temple

Took Centuries To Build But Duplicate Took Fifty Days

The Chicago World's Fair breaks ground for the great Maya temple that is to be a dominating feature. It reproduces the temple at Uxmal, Yucatan, built more than 1,000 years ago by the most enlightened aborigines of North America. The original was generations in building, the duplicate goes up in 60 days. With electric cutting tools the grotesque head of a Mayan god can be turned out in a few hours; but the original Maya, who did not even know how to bring copper spear a lifetime in hardening a face or a column into form. This temple alone will serve all the ends of a world's fair. It will be a point of the rise of man. Christian Science Monitor.

Persian Balm—the peerless aid to loveliness. Delightfully fragrant. Dainty to use. Leaves no stickiness. A little gentle rubbing and it is swiftly absorbed by the tissues. Tonic in effect. Soothes and dispels roughness and chafing. Keeps skin soft and velvet-textured. Unrivaled for chafe, irritation and refinement. Used by lovely women everywhere to preserve and enhance their natural beauty.

Plan Is Hardly Feasible

The National Railway Construction Federation has submitted a plan to the ministry of railways to convert the ancient Great Wall of China into a system of motor highways, but it is hard for outsiders to conjecture such a motor road. For hundreds of miles the Wall climbs over mountain peaks.

The basin of the Colorado River covers about one-thirtieth of the area of the United States. This section has a population only as large as that of the state of Rhode Island.

About Cellophane

Was Invented By a Frenchman Way Back in 1908

You may get some satisfaction out of knowing who is to blame for the hundreds of thousands of man-hours this nation has spent taking things out of cellophane wrappings. It was not an American who invented it, it was a Frenchman, a Frenchman of the good old French name of Brandenberger—Monsieur J. E. Brandenberger. He came upon it while experimenting with rayon back in 1908. He had developed it to pretty much its present state by 1912. He named it too—"la cellophane." The French government used it during the war, taking the entire production to make eye-glasses for gas masks. In 1923 the du Pont interests bought the American rights. They made it waterproof, and now everything wears it. It is made of wood pulp as you may know, and it keeps everything out, from germs up, and is really very valuable, if annoying. It has all sorts of uses besides the familiar ones. They are making heat out of it, artificial grass and water scenes for the stage, raincoats for emergency use, costumes for burlesque-show choruses, and coverings to protect table tops from glass marks. Kosher-cellophane is made to wrap up kosher products. You can make your own Kynexer by smearing it with glue-and-glazing it over something flake like to eat. It's very effective. The flies don't see it until they are stuck on it. In Oregon a fishing guide discovered that a little piece torn off a cigarette package and stuck on a hook for trout and it got them. It looks like nothing at all to flies but it looks like flies to salmon. Nature is very wonderful. A man on a lonely road in Arkansas learned late one night that cellophane, rolled tightly, would piece out a wire from the coil to the distributor. Somewhere—these discoveries are made all over the world—a man found that if you wrap a cigarette tightly in cellophane you can tie it in a knot, and that long felt need was taken care of. Many trick things are done with it. A Canadian automobile company once wrapped a whole automobile in it, put the car in a window, and attracted attention—Forest and Outdoors.

Trap For Smugglers

"Wall Of Invisible Rays" On Germany's Western Frontier

An invisible wall which nobody can penetrate unnoticed will soon be "erected" at certain points of Germany's western frontier as the latest device against smugglers. It is a "wall of invisible rays" which cannot be seen or felt; but whoever penetrates this wall starts an alarm in the Customs offices. There an indicator promptly announces the spot where the intruder has crossed the frontier. A special device informs the officers of "blind alarms" by hares, dogs or deer.

Awarded Damages

Parish Detective Sues Taxi Company For Injury To His Nose

Detectives must have two good noses—one for crime and another on the face. That is why a magistrate in Paris has awarded $1,000 damages to a sleuth attached to the police squad for the suppression of gambling. The detective had sued his taxi company because his nose had been injured in a taxi accident and he could no longer carry on his work at race tracks because "he would immediately be recognized on account of his injured nose."

Shanghai Has German Paper

City Now Boasts Wide Variety In Daily Newspapers

Into the babel of Shanghai's already complex newspaper world still another foreign language daily has made its debut. It is the German language Deutsches Shanghai Zeitung. Perhaps no other city in the world boasts so many different kinds of daily papers.

Published in the English language there is the old-established English Press, the North China Daily News, so-called because at its founding most foreigners lived in Canton, to which Shanghai was then North China, although it is far from that geographically speaking. Two American dailies, the China Press in the morning and the Shanghai Evening Post and Mercury, an afternoon paper, vie with the third, the Shanghai Times, which has an English editor, although it is not of that nationality as to capital.

Bidding For Foreign Markets

Germany Plans To Send Out Floating Industrial "Fair"

In an endeavor to regain some of the foreign markets Germany lost as a result of the world war, an association of German manufacturers of Hagen, Westphalia, plan to send out a floating industrial "fair" early next year on a trade cruise to South America and the Far East, according to commerce department advices from Consul J. H. Bruns at Hamburg.

The 14,000-ton Hamburg-South American liner S.S. Cap Norte has been chartered for the "fair." It will visit more than 70 foreign ports of the world, leaving Hamburg or Bremen shortly after the first of the year and remaining away 18 months. "It will sail first to South American ports, later visiting British East India, China and Japan," the consul's report said.

The "Floating Fair" has been so organized that even small firms may take part in this piece of practical trade promotion. It will offer for sale and will exhibit a great range of German industrial products, especially hardware and tools.

No Place For Candy Shop

New Orleans Woman Would Open Store In Alkavik

In New Orleans, La., a certain woman is thirsting for knowledge of Canada's far north. She also seeks knowledge of the Dominion's currency.

The woman, whose name was not revealed, wrote a tourist agency at Calgary for the information as she apparently wanted to open a store in Alkavik, which rests in Canada's bleak sub-Arctic.

The agency, however, told her there were no railways to the shore coast of the Arctic ocean and that it would be doubtful if the candy and medicine business would be very profitable in that district. They also told her Canadian money was in dollars and cents not pounds and shillings as the believed.

Many Methods Used

Almost every known method of survey has been made use of in the work of surveying the international boundary between Canada and the United States. In its length of 5,500 miles, the boundary passes through country greatly varying in nature—through arms of the sea, through the great lakes, through rivers, lakes and forests and over plains, snowfields, glaciers and mountains.

Legend Of Bruce

Famous Bruce's Stone Is Presented To Scottish Nation

The Earl of Mar has presented to the Scottish nation the Bruce's stone. Everybody has heard the legend of Bruce and the spider. Less familiar, though, is the story of the strategem to which Bruce resorted, as he did on so many other occasions with equal success, when he was a fugitive in the Galloway Highlands. His little band of followers gathered all the horses, wild and tame, all the goats, all the four-footed creatures upon which they could lay hands. The noise of this large body and the waving of the goats' horns made the English apprehensive that there must be a large force with Bruce. Accordingly they remained in their camp, and at daybreak Bruce attacked them with such fury that they were utterly routed.

Moss Raploch, where the stone is set up, and under which Bruce rested after he had put the enemy to flight, was recently sold by the Earl of Mar to the Galloway Power Company, but the stone itself, together with a means of access to the main road.

Nation-Wide Fame.—There is scarcely a corner of this great Dominion where the merits of Dr. Thomas' Ecolitric Oil have not been tried and proved. It is one of the world's most efficient remedies for sore throat, larynx, hoarseness, and other ailments arising from inflammation. Rubbed on the skin its healing powers are readily absorbed, and it can also be taken internally.

Hoarders Must Spend

Only Way To Start Business On The Economy

The Canadian Manufacturers' Association has issued a circular for the benefit of the public generally and of trade in particular, pointing out the necessity, if good times are to return, for the free spending of money. The only thing that keeps the recovery of trade in the lack of money in circulation. Consequently all hoarding or restriction on spending keeps back the recovery on which so much depends.

"The public interest in present conditions does not point to private economy; to spend less money than we should like to do is not patriotic," is one sentiment which the circular quotes from an English authority, which is equally applicable on this side of the ocean.

"In the period of the war it was a patriotic duty for private citizens to cut their expenditures on the purchase of consumable goods and services to the limit of their power. When a man now economizes in consumption, and lets the fruit of his economy pile up in bank balances, the released real resources do not find a new home waiting for them." Revival of business will only follow free spending.

Britain's Naval Reduction

Further Disarmament Depends On Action of Other Nations

Declaring Great Britain had gone farthest than any other power in naval disarmament, Sir Bolton Eyre-McNeill, first lord of the British admiralty, insisted during debate in the house of commons that "future reductions will depend on their being accepted by everyone; there will be no further unilateral reductions."

"We have weakened our navy," he asserted, "to no purpose but to please a certain nation that would give us no help, but would only dictate to us."

A Crowning Achievement

Herman Treile's Prize Awarded Wheat

"Never have I been more confident of winning the championship," was Herman Treile's comment when notified that he had won the world's wheat championship at Chicago.

"I considered it won when I sent the sample in, because it represents seven years of selection and increasing of reward wheat, and I consider it to be my crowning achievement. It is the first time I have ever shown this outstanding strain."

"This particular wheat was the largest sample of plump and uniform kernels combined with wonderful color, making it the finest wheat ever produced on our farm. This I consider to be remarkable and it proves the wonderful quality of this new strain of Reward wheat because this large and plump type was produced under very dry conditions. It suggests that it is drought resistant, which only further growing will prove."

"I predict that this type of wheat will provide the backbone of Canada's future export business because of its higher quality."

Only four times have United States farmers won the coveted award, and of the 18 times Canadians have carried the crown to the Dominion, three farmers have won it 12 times, records show. King of them all, however, is still Seager Wheeler, whose grain from Roanoke district in the world wheat plot of Saskatchewan, has earned the title five times.

Tragedy Pictured on Jug

Prized Cream Pitcher Carries Story of Blighted Love

Mrs. Mary E. Braddock, 78, living at Page, Nebraska, owns a prized cream pitcher, said to be more than 200 years old.

The white pitcher is trimmed in a blue design which tells the following story of blighted love:

The daughter of a proud family loved the butler. The parents foisted the daughter into climbing into a boat, which was overturned, drowning the maiden, saving her from marriage beneath her station and her family from disgrace.

Benefit Dance

The sale of tickets for this great event have far exceeded expectations. To date as will be noted, over $150.00 has been received. It is certainly a wonderful spirit—that of giving a helping hand to someone in poorer circumstances than yourself. It will certainly be an event long to be remembered in Lacombe. The big affair is tomorrow (Friday) night, and you still have time to get your ticket. If you can't find time to get in before, get your ticket the night of the dance. All tickets sold will be acknowledged in the Western Globe. This will be the biggest dance ever held in Lacombe, and it will be worth $50.00 to see so many people together at once. The dance will start promptly at 9:00 o'clock, and his Honor, Mayor Edwin H. Jones, K.C., will officially open the affair. He there will have the time of your life.

SHORT COURSE

A short course in seed judging has been arranged for December 22, 23, 24 at the Dominion Experimental Station. The program will start at 9 a.m. each day and continue until 4 o'clock in the afternoon with an hour and a half off for lunch.

Anyone interested is invited to come and take part in this course in seed judging and seed production. Members of the Field Crops Branch of the Provincial Department of Agriculture will be on hand to take part in this work.

At the conclusion of this short course a number of boys between sixteen and twenty years of age will be selected to represent the Lacombe district at Edmonton to decide who will represent Alberta in the seed judging competitions to be held at the World's Grain Show, Regina, in 1939.

Lacombe boys are just as smart and come from just as good a farming district as any in the province, hence should stand as good a chance as any in the elimination contest at Edmonton. Bill Douglas was high man in the preliminary competition held last year at Edmonton. This is a real opportunity for any boy who is willing to come out and take an interest in this work. There are no charges in connection with this course. Both young and old are welcome.

Hockey Notes

Lacombe Hockeyists had a streak of bad luck the past few days. In the games played at Red Deer and Stettler, Lacombe was beaten, the score being 5 to 3 in Red Deer's favor and 2 to 0 in Stettler's favor. In both these games, Lacombe went on the ice in a crippled condition. In the game with Ponoka, Lacombe, our fast defence man wrenched his knee badly and has not been playing since. At Red Deer Louis Calkins was absent from the lineup and Penman was suffering from a couple of sprained ribs. There is no doubt in the minds of all hockey fans that Lacombe has the fastest lineup in the League. They have been playing against a jinx, and when they manage to shake that jinx off, they will make up for their losses and then some. Anyway, turn out to the games and give them your encouragement; it will make a lot of difference.

Laird Trial Still On

The Stanley Laird, Manslaughter case, which opened at Red Deer on Monday last is still progressing. Very little new evidence has been introduced, the evidence so far being practically the same as at the preliminary. ### Theory of French Doctor

Believes Sleeping With Head To North Prevents Insomnia.

A French physician comes forward with the theory that people suffering from insomnia will sleep better and be in a much better condition the next day, if they sleep with the head to the north and the feet to the south. Magnetic currents he maintains, flow from the north to the south, and will thus pass easily and freely through the body and produce quiet and rest. If they pass across the body he believes they will cause nervousness, irritation, prevent sleep and produce a feeling of restlessness and lassitude the following day.

Supported By the Law

British Police Know They Have Authority Back Of Them.

The British policeman is backed up by the law far more effectively than officers in some countries. When he makes an arrest there are not a thousand loopholes in the criminal law by which an unscrupulous lawyer can free his man. There are not a lot of criminals who get out of jail because they have influence. The British policeman very truly represents "the majesty of the law." He does not, as a usual thing, need to carry a weapon with him.

Now Comes Synthetic Ivory

For centuries billiard balls have been laboriously turned by hand from natural ivory. Few workmen could produce accurate spheres. Billiard balls of synthetic ivory, which are made with mathematical accuracy, were exhibited this year at the Leipzig fair and are claimed to be superior to the old form. They assure more accurate play, besides being fracture proof and indestructible.

Splendid Gift to Plymouth

Settlement Founded By Lord and Lady Astor New City Property
Another splendid gift to Plymouth from Lord and Lady Astor is announced. This comprises the social settlement and institution known as the Virginia House, which Lord Astor has decided to hand over to the city.

The Virginia House Settlement, which was founded by Lord and Lady Astor many years ago, is situated amid old stum property and close to the spot where Katherine of Aragon spent her first night on English soil when she came to marry Henry VIII. It has become a most successful centre for all manner of social, recreational, educational and religious purposes, and the buildings comprise a large hall, classrooms, gymnasium, kitchen, library and so forth.

The most recent addition, opened by Lady Astor is a large nursery at the lower end of the settlement. It is equipped, among other things, with five or six rocking horses, several dolls' houses, go-carts, perambulators and other similar things dear to the hearts of children, some 80 of whom may be found there on any night of the five nights of the week on which the nursery is open to them.

British Peers Frugal Eaters

Tea Is Chief Meal According To Official Caterer

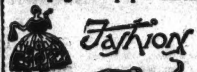

Sausages and mash is one of the favorite dishes of the British peerage, according to R. C. Vaughan, who has supplied meals to members of the House of Lords for the past twelve years.

"As a rule," he says, "the richer and the longer line aged peers are frugal feeders. Sausages and mash, cottage pie, or steaks at 35c. are their favorites."

"There is very little originality about the tastes of the hereditary legislators. Tea is actually their chief meal in the House. And they sure make a meal of it, too—without, limited, hot water, toast, bread and butter, cream, jam, and cake, costs 24c."

Vaughan has catered for meals for five monarchs. He regards King George as having the simplest tastes, ex-King Alfonso as the greatest gourmet, and the ex-Kaiser as the most difficult to please.

A DARLING LINKEN GUMFEE DRESS WITH DAINTY BLOUSES—ETTE OF DIMITY

A French blue linen made the original. The blouselette was white dimity with blue dots.

Don't you adore the way the bodice of the dress fastens at the sides? The buttons were in matching shade. Inverted plaits provide the necessary width to the skirt.

Besides linen, firmly woven cottons can also be used for the overdress as pique and tweed effects.

It's so simple to make it. It is so decidedly individual. And it will cost you next to nothing.

Style No. 440 is designed for sizes 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. Size 10 requires 1 1/2 yards of 35-inch print with 2 1/2 yards of 39-inch plain material.

It's very smart in wool crepe in tobacco brown with novelty wool crepe blouse in orange-red and brown tones.

Price of pattern 20 cents in stamps or coin (coin is preferred). Wrap coin carefully.

Climate Of Venus Severe

If Planet Is Inhabited People Must Be Hardy

If there are inhabitants on Venus, Professor Philip Fox, of the Albert Planetary, says that they are "tough customers." "Talk about life on Venus is pure speculation," he said recently. "But from what we know of its climate, its inhabitants, if any, are indeed tough." A day on Venus is 20 earth days long. The night is the same. Getting accustomed to a warm day and then being subjected to a chilly 20-day night, the professor believes, would make the supposed dwellers of the planet hardly enough for almost anything. Speculation about the possibility of inhabitants on Venus was recently begun anew when astronomers discovered that there is present on Venus large quantities of carbon dioxide, indicative of existence in some form.

Device Records Tire Leaks

In a few years the driver of a car will know at once when a tire is losing air, William Lewis of Cambridge, Nebraska, believes. Lewis has secured a patent on a device which indicates by a system of lights, one for each tire, on the dashboard, when a tire is losing air by valve leak or puncture.

Interesting Wax Effigies

Figures of Notables Are in Chapel in Westminster Abbey

Probably the world's most interesting wax effigies are those in the Chapel in Westminster Abbey. These are relics of the old custom of carrying an effigy of a dead notable in the funeral procession, and some of them were removed more than a century ago from Henry the Seventh's Chapel, where they had stood for varying periods guarding the tombs of those they represent.

These figures represent William III—"Dutch William"—and his wife, Mary II; Queen Anne; Charles II; Frances, Duchess of Richmond, the "la belle Stuart" who was the model for the figure of Britannia on our coins; Catherine, Duchess of Buckingham, a daughter of James II, and her two sons, one a lad of nineteen, and the other a boy of four; the great Lord Gatham, as he appeared making his last speech in the House of Commons; and the famous hero, Nelson, with a pin stuck into the spot where he was shot at Trafalgar—London Tit-Bit.

The forest measuring worm, when alarmed, will stand out so straight and stiff from a limb that even the birds think him a small twig and pass him by.

Christmas Seal Sale PROVIDES FUNDS FOR Fight Against Tuberculosis

THE SASKATOON SANATORIUM

One of three similar institutions operated by the Saskatchewan Anti-Tuberculosis League. The others are located at Fort St. John and Prince Albert, and all are equipped to provide the most effective treatment known to medical science for coping with this dread disease. Approximately 700 patients are under constant treatment at these three centres, but thanks to the preventive work rendered possible by the sale of Christmas Seals the death rate from tuberculosis was lower and the number of new cases less in 1931 than in the previous year.

During the last ten years the death rate among the white population of Saskatchewan has been reduced from 40 to 28 per 100,000 population. In the year 1931 Canada dug 7,627 graves for tuberculosis patients.

And in the same period Saskatchewan dug 335 graves. When we figure out the cost of these tuberculosis deaths, taking into consideration travelling expenses to the Sanatorium, one year's illness in the Sanatorium, one year's lost wages, and the funeral expenses, we find that there is well over $2,000.00 of loss with each death. Multiply this by the number of deaths during 1931 and you have three-quarters of a million dollars for Saskatchewan alone. And we must remember that this loss is preventable.

Prevention means earlier discovery, less spread of the disease, a shorter period of treatment, more recoveries, less new cases and less suffering and cost to the community.

Treatment is provided for out of taxes, and in Saskatchewan today, the work for greater than ever and the Anti-Tuberculosis League confidently relies upon the generosity of the people of Saskatchewan to enable it to meet whatever demands may be made upon it during the coming year.

Faced Difficulties

In Arctic Outpost

Wife of Mountie Had Only Eskimos for Neighbors

To be taken in midsummer from the sunny clime of Niagara's fruit belt and transplanted to the bleak Arctic regions with only Eskimos for neighbors is not a pleasant experience for anyone, particularly a woman, but Mrs. W. Munday, of Saskatoon, wouldn't let her husband go alone.

So, many years ago when William Munday, an officer of the old Royal North-West Mounted Police, was transferred from Lake Ontario district to Chesterfield Inlet on the northwest coast of Hudson Bay, his wife went with him. Mrs. Munday didn't tell members of the Women's Canadian Club, Moose Jaw, how long ago that was nor how long she stayed there but she referred to it as a matter of years.

Children of a woman entering the territory ignorant of Eskimo language, unaccustomed to freezing temperatures and hardship and 1,100 miles from the nearest white woman, were related by Mrs. Munday.

Describing the daily life and habits of Eskimos, Mrs. Munday said there were no bachelors nor "old maids" among them—because of necessity. A man, she said, must have a wife to sew his moccasins and a woman must have a man to hunt for her.

Eskimos apparently are a very quiet people. Mrs. Munday said for often children are betrothed even before birth, the boy's father offering some purchase price for his son's future wife. In event of disappointment or death the "deposit" is returned.

The awful silence as it often is appropriately described is terribly hard on one's nerves, said Mrs. Munday, and the joyful twitter of a bird is heard only during a brief mating season.

Mrs. Munday now makes her home in Saskatoon.

Pattern Makers Get

Ideas From Crystals

Many Beautiful Designs Are Obtained For Dress Materials

Some of the loveliest patterns used in dress materials today are due to the chemist's microscope. Many liquids as they dry form crystals of perfect shade with lovely lines of delicate tracery. Curiously enough, some of the most beautiful patterns come from the crystals of poisonous or pernicious drugs, such as opium or cocaine or cyanide.

It was a woman who discovered that in crystals there is a wonderful series of patterns for dress materials. Mme. Guillo, a French scientist, was looking through a microscope at the crystals of citric acid when the inspiration came to her. She took photographs through the microscope and sent them to designers and tailors for what they represented. They were received with acclamation.

But crystals are by no means the only microscopic objects which are pressed into the dress designer's service. Certain germs and microbes arrange themselves in wonderful patterns, and there are beautiful designs to be found in microscopic pictures of the veins and muscles of our bodies.

Microbe dresses are becoming fashionable, and "dope" silk is now all the rage. The latter contains designs which are faithful copies of the crystal patterns of some of the drugs made from opium—Tit-Bits.

Air Transportation

Areas in Western Canada To Be Served by Air Express

Co-ordination of air and land transportation in areas of western Canada, especially in northern districts not served by railways, is forecast with the appointment of Harvey L. Weber, pioneer business man of The Pas, to an executive position in Canadian Airways, with headquarters in Winnipeg.

Mr. Weber will be in charge of land transportation and of air express, his territory covering all western Canada. He will endeavor to make the service co-operative instead of competitive.

The new appointee to the Airways executive is a pioneer freighter of the north country, having organized land and water transportation systems.

Antip Up-To-Date

A young man who had spent a week-end motoring was retailing his experience to an elderly aunt.

"It was a jolly change except on one occasion when I encountered a damp inn," he said.

"Oh!" said the aunt severely, "I presume—that's what went through one of your tires?"

Needles and Pins

A quarter of a million dollars worth of needles and pins must be quite a stack. The quantity sent to the United Kingdom in the last five months was valued at $250,430, a considerable sum for the small article. In the same period last year, presumably almost all of these were pins.

Of the men between the ages of 25 and 50, 3,000,000 are bachelors.

Problem For English

Customs Officials

Find Birds' Nests and Snails Hard To List

The new import duties came into force seven months ago.

They were carefully drawn up, but they did not take birds' nests and snails into account.

These two articles are of such an uncertain constitution that the united efforts of the board of trade and the customs for weeks have not been able to assign them any definite place in the list.

The question is being taken from pillar to post in fine Whitehall style, and traders are not paying the duty till it is decided.

The usual severity of Whitehall has been astonished to an extent that would disturb the outside public.

The trouble began over birds' nests—not ordinary bird's nests, but special variety imported from the Far East for making a soup prized by epicures.

Now birds' nests are not a natural product or raw material. What are they?

Officials spent hours cogitating over the problem. One of the higher lights decided that they were "vegetable."

The head of another department declared they were a "fabrication."

An even more exalted official was called to arbitrate, and held that birds' nests might conceivably come under "building material," but suspended judgment pending further information.

Meanwhile the precise rate of import duty remains unfixd.

This is not the only problem. Edible snails from France were at first classed as meat. Clearly they are not fish, fowl or vegetable. But it has been decided they are not meat, nor can they be classed with periwinkles.

What is a snail?

Most Sensitive Machine

Shows Amount Of Acidity and Ripeness Of Various Fruits

An electrolytic, or "electric palate," that tastes and gives readings of the acidity, or juice character and also indicates the ripeness of apples, oranges, lemons and other fruits and vegetables, together with the recording of the acid contents of tea and coffee, has been developed by E. C. Hitchcock, electronic engineer. It was demonstrated for the first time in New York recently.

This latest scientific achievement is so sensitive that it records the action of one-millionth of an ampere, or about one eighth of measuring power of an ordinary house fly and is 100 per cent more sensitive than any of its type now on the market. Previous recording meters of this sensitivity were expensive and not readily portable. The electrolytic was primarily designed for the measuring of the minute currents that flow in photo-electric tube circuits, or "electric eyes," that are used in sound-motion picture projectors or other light and sound sensitive devices.

With the object of increasing direct trade between Canada and certain portions of the British Empire in the Far East as well as the Netherlands East Indies, arrangements have been made by the Department of Trade and Commerce and a group of steamship lines operating between Java and the Atlantic seaboard to provide a monthly steamship service operating between Halifax and Egypt, Ceylon, British Malaya and also Java in the Netherlands East Indies.

in the same saucepan by using GANAPAR

Do each vegetable up in its own bag of Ganapar Cookery Parchment.

There won't be any odor, not even from cauliflower. All the food value and flavor will be retained. And you use only one burner turned low for cooking. The flavors will not mix!

Do the same with boiled or steamed fish. You'll be delighted with the results. No fishy odor in the kitchen. No saucepan or kettle to clean up. When roasting meat, line your pan with Ganapar. Fats and juices won't burn. No more scraping or scouring of the pan afterwards.

You can use Ganapar repeatedly by simply rinsing it off and hanging it up to dry. It doesn't absorb odors. Makes a perfect dish cloth. Silky, strong, and doesn't spread lint. Made by the makers of the famous FARMASOL Heavy Waxed Paper in the Green Box.

Special Offer

Most grocers, druggists and department stores have Ganapar in sale. But if you haven't, send this coupon direct to the makers and we'll give you a new and unique booklet entitled "Leftovers," containing one hundred recipes at a bonus for your trouble.

An Effective Background

World's Grain Show Building Beautiful Setting For Exhibits

The World's Grain Show Building is gradually giving promise of the very beautiful background that will be afforded to the exhibits of grains and grasses from all parts of the world at the congress to be held in Regina next year. Long rows of gorgeous red pillars will be topped by a frieze of feathery grains patterned to bring out the contrasts of rich yellow wheats with the dark green of the broom grass or the pale blue of the rye oats against the bronze of the flax.

Along the ceiling, each electric light fixture is set into a formal design likewise done in contrasting tones of plants while just below the ceiling is a mural showing Canadian industries. The immense spaces of this great building are being divided up into exhibit stalls for this and that country and state.

One corner is set aside for a great replica of the E. P. Ranch at High River. The back curtain is already in place and the rivers, and main geographic features of the ranch are already outlined on the floor, while the mountains are painted into the background.

The work was pushed as rapidly as possible before it got too cold for the workmen to stay there for it would require a forest fire to heat the place sufficiently for comfortable working in the winter time. A score of girls who are engaged making the designs for the pillars and walls have been moved to an office nearby.

In the centre of the long hall is a canopied spot where the champions of all classes will be displayed.

Bentley News

A very pleasant afternoon was spent Thursday, Dec. 15th at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hans P. Hansen, the occasion being a shower held in honor of their eldest daughter, Laura, whose marriage to Mr. Alfred Laikie, takes place on December 30. The bride elect was very much surprised when a white and mauve canopied wagon, loaded with gaily wrapped parcels and presided over by a miniature veiled bride, was drawn in by her little sister Marie, and slowly paraded before the assembled friends. Many beautiful and useful presents that show the esteem in which Laura is regarded by her friends of Springfield, Sunset and Bentley were unwrapped by her rather shaky fingers to the tune of "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow."

After the recipient had suitably expressed her thanks, lunch was served and the afternoon was spent in dancing.

Among the guest present were Mrs. D. Leiske, Lacombe.

We are very glad that Miss Hansen's new home is not beyond reach of us all, and the best wishes of the district are extended to her for her future happiness.

The Sunset branch of the Women's Institute are having a concert and dance in aid of the Bentley Hospital in Bentley Community Hall on the evening of Dec. 28th, at 8:30. Admission tickets 25c. There will be community singing and we will have our favourite artists from Lacombe, Leedale, Centre Valley and Bentley. Good music is assured. "Our Orchestra" will set your feet a-dancing.

Ladies of the W.I. will be at the lunch counter with good things to eat. This is the last thing of its kind for the year 1932. Everybody come. It is for a good cause. We need the hospital and the Hospital needs your support.

Don't forget the date, Dec. 28th at 8:30. You will have a good time.
